

The Modern Analytics Cloud

Consumer-grade analytics for your modern data stack

What is the Modern Analytics Cloud?

Data has become the de facto currency on which successful modern businesses are built. As innovation accelerates across the cloud data ecosystem, the opportunity for companies putting these new capabilities in the hands of business people is unprecedented.

The Modern Analytics Cloud from ThoughtSpot delivers a consumer-grade front end to your modern data stack, empowering everyone - your employees, partners, and customers - to turn data into meaningful insights.

Whether you're using the ThoughtSpot application, embedding insights into SaaS apps like Salesforce, productivity apps like Slack, or building entirely new data products, the Modern Analytics Cloud turns data into your competitive advantage.

Why ThoughtSpot?

With ThoughtSpot, everyone can create, consume, and operationalize data-driven insights. Our consumer-grade search and AI technology delivers true self-service analytics that anyone can use, while our developer-friendly platform ThoughtSpot Everywhere makes it easy to build interactive data apps that integrate seamlessly with your existing cloud ecosystem.
